Evans is listed in Who's Who in America, Who's Who in the South and Southwest, and in over 20 other regional, national and international listings. An elder in the Presbyterian Church, he has served as Moderator of Holston Presbytery and as a delegate to the General Assembly. He is in his 16th year as Scoutmaster and has been awarded the Silver Beaver, Scouter's Key, Scouter's Award, as well as being a vigil member of the Order of the Arrow. He has served on district, area and council boards, and was named to the staff of the 1981 National Jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America. DIVISION OF LANGUAGES, LITERATURE, AND FINE ARTS

The aim of the division is to give students competency in written and oral composition and to aid them in the interpretation, understanding, and appreciation of literature and the fine arts. Art and music have been areas through which man has expressed himself since the beginning of time. The history of art is involved with the history of ideas; the desire to make a form, as well as to illustrate an idea, reveals personal, social, and philosophic values, interests, and attitudes throughout the course of history. The courses in music aim to enlighten the student by three procedures: first, by exposing him to the technical knowledge which forms the foundation for further musical study; second, by helping him to develop proficiency in his specialized field of applied music; third, by endeavoring to instill in him a genuine appreciation for all types of music through a study of its history, its composers, and its form. A study of art and music thus becomes a means of communication, self-expression and understanding.

THE DIVISION OF SOCIAL SCIENCES

The social sciences are those areas of knowledge dealing with man and society in the development of civilization. They are disciplines which are concerned with the relationships of human beings with each other and with their natural environment. The social sciences present the story of human affairs from the past to present times. The social sciences have a definite relationship for the individual to the development, structure, and functioning of society. The subject matter of the social sciences can be analyzed and used in understanding trends, solving problems, and revealing the past as a means toward better understanding of the present. An understanding of the social sciences gives one a broader knowledge and a more complete picture of the development of civilization. The core of civilization is people and the social sciences place emphasis upon people and the world in which they live. The art of effective living can be achieved through an understanding of the social sciences.

THE DIVISION OF NATURAL AND THEORETICAL SCIENCES

Elton Caviness, Chemistry and Physics; B.S., Campbell College; M.A., North Carolina State University.

The study of natural sciences seeks to develop in the student an understanding and appreciation of scientific attitudes and methods by means of (1) the acquisition of a considerable body of scientific data, and (2) orientation in the proper interpretation and application of these data. Studies in Mathematics and Graphics offer the student an opportunity to expand elementary skills and update past experiences in the world of numbers and symbols. Greater achievements are attained as the mind applies newly found knowledge to areas of personal interest, and logic becomes a way of thinking.

The Division of Developmental Studies provides several special programs designed to provide extra-class and in-class help to students with academic problems. The division is staffed by both degree-holding instructors and superior students. The division attempts to discover why a student has problems, and then to help him solve those problems through building good study habits, planning his time, and tutoring in particular subject areas.

Lees-McRae College held its opening Faculty Workshop at the Center for Continuing Education, Appalachian State University in August. The theme was "Integration of Faith and Learning" with special emphasis on the spiritual, professional, and emotional consequences of "Burnout." The workshop was sponsored by the Thomas F. Staley Christian Scholar Lecture program. The 1982 Workshop Committee was chaired by Mary White with Janet Carroll, Elton Caviness, John Wilson and David Yount as members. Opening remarks were made by College President H.C. Evans, Jr. followed by the "State of the College" address, also by Dr. Evans. Reports from the offices of the Administrative Council — James Stonesifer, Vice President for Academic Affairs; Roy Krege, Vice President for Business Affairs; and Tom MacQueen,

Vice President for Student Affairs — were made prior to the morning recess. Dianne Hinson, Chairperson of the Academic Senate, explained that the workshop committee was formed as a result of a resolution of the Senate and that the topics of each workshop were chosen from recommendations of the faculty members. The keynote address was delivered by Bill Oglesby, Professor of Pastoral Counseling, Union Theological Seminary. Following a luncheon, C.J. Henderson of Investors Diversified Services made a presentation entitled "Personal Financial Management." The topic of "Stress Management and Burnout" was discussed by John Beasley, Chairman of the Department of Home Economics, ASU. Following the workshop the faculty, with families, enjoyed a picnic on the campus at Banner Elk.

92 Homecoming

Charlotte television cowboy star and hero of Tweetsie Railroad Fred Kirby was the 1982 Homecoming Parade Marshal. One of the largest parades ever meandered its way from downtown Banner Elk to the football field where Lees-McRae would host Westchester (NY) Community College. Cannon Cottage and Tennessee Dorm won the dorm decoration first place; Virginia Dorm finished third. Float winners were: Phil Theta Kappa, Cannon Cottage, and Roadrunners.

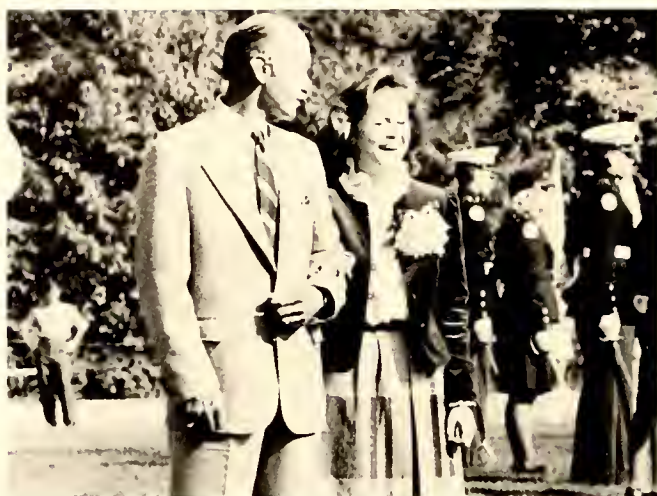

Cannon Cottage takes second in float competition.

PERFORMING ARTS

The Lees-McRae Performing Arts Department offers performance opportunities to students who need and enjoy the presentation side of performing arts. Performance areas are: the Highlanders, an eight-member show ensemble group; the stage band; the bluegrass band; the cloggers; and the theater department. All of these areas can be seen in action throughout the year at Lees-McRae College, in the community, and on tour of the southeastern United States.

This year the tour included stops in Belmont, Concord, Charlotte, Mount Gilead, Fayetteville, Wrightsville Beach, and Chester, South Carolina, with performances before churches, high schools and civic groups.

The tour is sponsored by Lees-McRae College for the purpose of interesting prospective students in the college as well as providing enjoyment and experience for the college students involved.

The Director of the Performing Arts Department is Dr. Janet B. Carroll. Elton Caviness plays banjo and directs the bluegrass band; Susan Caviness is director of the clogging team; and Nicki Spinks is music director.

Lees-McRae's tradition of providing the student body and community with fine entertainment was continued as "The Diary of Anne Frank" and "Guys and Dolls" were presented this year.

The cloggers took first place in the adult division of the Old North State Clogging Championships for percision clogging. This competition was held in Raleigh in April and the team competed with teams from all over the state of North Carolina.

SPRING FLING

The gala Spring Fling of 1982-83 was launched with the tug-of-war, the famous three-legged race, and plenty of challenging matches in trying to wrestle the bubble gum from the bowl of flour as an appetizer to the picnic on the grounds of Tate lawn.

The great tobacco spitting contest had many experts on hand to compete, as well as the serious contemplation and deliberation in stacking the teacups and saucers for the cup and saucer race. The great 50-yard dash with a stack of teacups showed the victors and the vanquished. And what would a Spring Fling be without the famous egg toss. All of this and many other challenging contests kept the students busy for an afternoon.

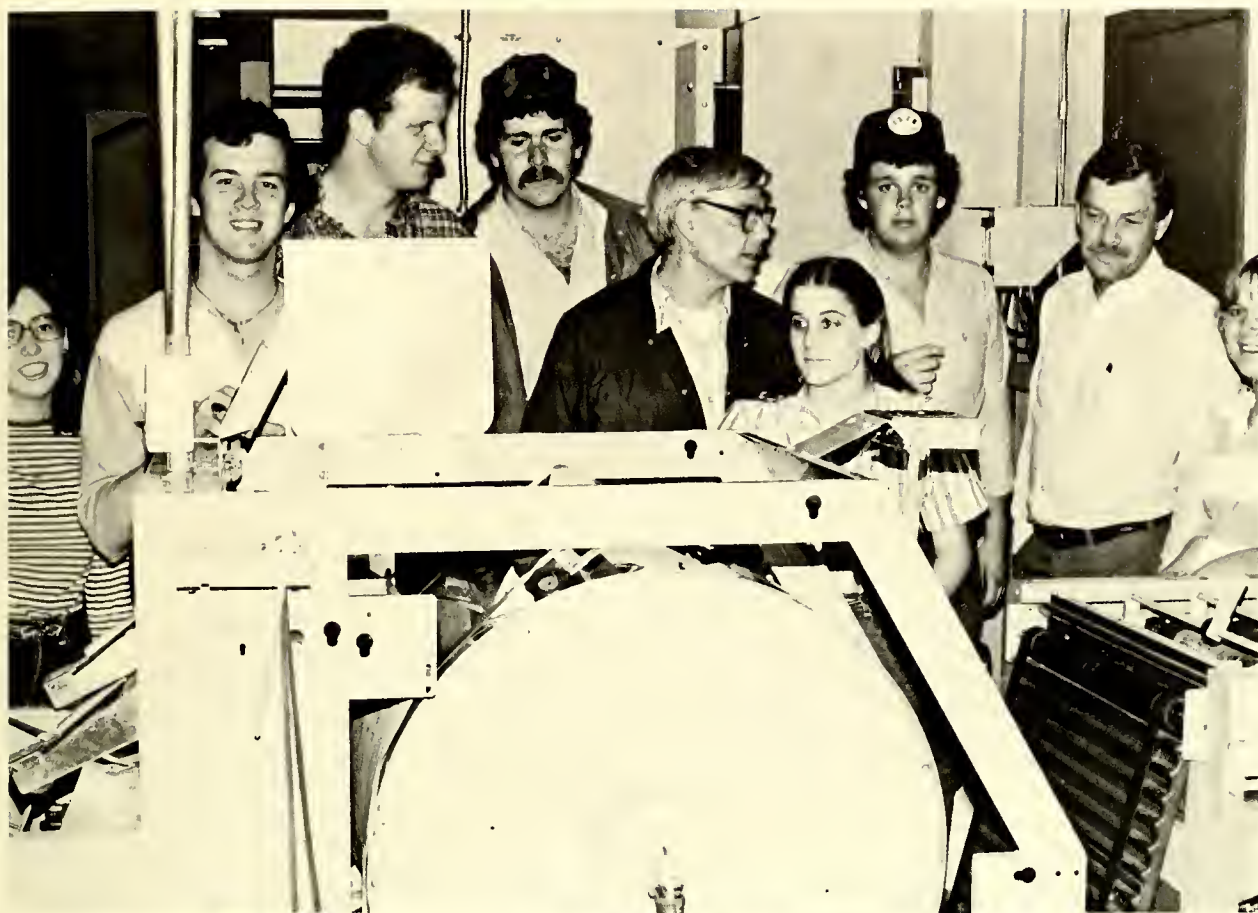

PHOTO CLUB

The main purpose of the Photography Club is to stimulate an awareness of and interest in photography. A secondary purpose is to share with other photographers the wealth of knowledge that can only be gained through intra-personal relationships of this sort. The club has its own darkroom, provides campus-wide photography contests and sponsors photo projects. It also assists in helping beginners understand their cameras and aids them in developing and printing pictures. The club seeks to stimulate interest in the non-photographer and lend creativity to the "expert." Many of the pictures aid the school in press releases and the yearbook. The club also sponsors field trips to area photo labs and studios.

CIRCLE K

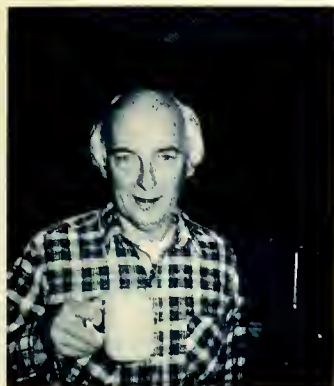

The Circle K Club was organized in 1969 and is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Banner Elk. The purpose of the organization resembles the theme of the national Kiwanian philosophy — active service to the community.

This year the club sold refreshments at football and basketball games, sold bumper stickers, participated in a Walk-A-Thon for the Alesia Albritton Memorial Scholarship, and participated in the Jump Rope for Heart fund-raising campaign.

The Road Runners club was established in 1971 to benefit the commuting students. Its purpose is to give the day students representation in school functions and in the Student Government Association. The club also provides a social outlet for commuters and is involved in raising funds for the Renetta Baldwin Memorial Scholarship which is given annually. This year the club won third place in the Homecoming parade float competition, participated in the Halloween Carnival, sponsored a dance, sold shirts and bumper stickers at the WCJCC Basketball Tournament, and participated in the Jump Rope for Heart fund-raising campaign. The group also provided refreshments for the staff and faculty at Christmas and at mid-term and gave Christmas flowers and presents for the patients at the Regency Health Care Center.

APPALACHIAN OUTDOOR WILDERNESS SOCIETY

The Appalachian Outdoor Wilderness Society was established to inspire interest in outdoor activities. The club attempts to take advantage of the wilderness around Banner Elk and the surrounding area. Members enjoy and protect the natural resources and in doing so, educate themselves in understanding the world around them.

This year the AOWS sponsored a rafting trip on the French Broad River, a three-day hike of Mt. Rogers, a Sugar Mountain day hike, cross-country skiing on the back of Beech Mountain, a Linville Gorge clean-up, and a three-day canoe trip of the New River. In addition to this, the club has had monthly meetings and programs on rappelling, Outward Bound, hypothermia and outdoor camping equipment.

ELEANOR OSBORNE HOSPITAL VOLUNTEERS

The Eleanor Osborne Memorial Hospital Volunteers is a service organization whereby members do volunteer work for one or more hours each week at Cannon Memorial Hospital. Duties consist of taking library and nourishment carts to patient rooms, being a messenger and taking material to emergency room, x-ray, and labs. At times, flowers and mail are delivered to patients and some students work in the medical laboratory and medical records department. The group had a Christmas party and made napkin rings for each of the patients. The members sponsored a booth at the Halloween Carnival and assisted the bloodmobile on its two visits to the campus.

The Beta Tau Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa continued to dominate awards at the national convention and extended the prestigious chapter's laurels as several individuals captured awards, as well as the chapter receiving outstanding recognition. The convention was held in Kansas City in March with over 1,000 people in attendance. There were 160 chapters from all over the United States. Beta Tau captured the Travel Award which is presented to the chapter that travels the greatest distance to the convention in compliance with the guidelines established by the Gamma Sigma Chapter, which underwrites this award.

Karen Pennell, a former student at LMC, now a junior at UNC-Chapel Hill, was inducted into the Hall of Honor. Lynn Plimpton, National President, won the Robert J. Stalcup Award which is given to an outstanding member of any junior college in the nation.

The Mosal Yearbook Award is given to the best yearbook entry and Linda Jett was responsible for Beta Tau winning this prestigious award. She was also a finalist in the art competition and received a blue ribbon for one of her entries.

Again, the Beta Tau Chapter was named the Most Distinguished. This is the highest award given to a chapter based on the use of the National Honors Theme, entry in Phi Theta Kappa Competitions, attendance at state, regional and national meetings, participation in campus service projects, attendance at the Honors Institute, and communication with the National Office and Regional Advisor.

A scholarship of $250 is given to the Honors Institute for the Mosal Yearbook Award, the Travel Award, and the Most Distinguished Chapter Award. The Stalcup Award, presented to Lynn Plimpton also carries an Institute Scholarship for her.

The 1983-84 officers were announced and once again Beta Tau placed Lori Dowdy as the Southern Vice President. By becoming the Southern Vice President, she is awarded a scholarship to the institute and will help run the Institute next year at C. W. Post College in Long Island, New York.

The Beta Tau Chapter of PTK has been very active this year on the campus and on the regional and national level. The chapter has attempted to use the national theme "Signed by the Masters" in every aspect of the year's activities. In keeping with this theme, the chapter sponsored a Readers' Theatre, "An Encounter With Three Masters: Faustus, Galileo, and Mozart." During the year the members attended the regional convention in Greensboro, hosted the Carolina's Regional Leadership Conference, attended the tenth Honors Seminar, and the national convention in Kansas City. Some members enjoyed reading short stories to the children at the Banner Elk Elementary School, assisted with pre-registration and registration, and collected food to help needy families. The chapter sold ice cream at the Watauga County Spring Festival, sold pompoms at football and basketball games, sold stadium cups at games and on campus, participated in the Halloween Carnival, entered a float in the Homecoming parade and won first prize, hosted an alumni reception after the Homecoming game. Members Lynn Plimpton and Henrietta Todd received the President's Scholarship and other members were active in Performing Arts productions. The group sponsored a Walk-a-Thon for the Alesia Albritton Scholarship Fund and raised almost $800. On October 29, the Beta Tau Chapter celebrated its 50th Anniversary. The year was a tremendous learning experience for all as stated objectives were met and, at the same time, the importance of various "masters" in society was grasped.

DELTA PSI OMEGA

Delta Psi's main purpose has become to promote theatre in the area, mainly through a student-directed children's show that tours throughout the county in the spring. This one project takes an enormous amount of effort and this year four directors and one stage manager were used.

The group's work has been praised by teachers all over the county and by the Avery County Arts Council, a group that helps sponsor the show.

In addition, Delta Psi participated in the Halloween Carnival offering a "Haunted House."

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

The Student Government Association sponsored the Homecoming and Spring Dances as well as a Get-Acquainted Dance in the fall. The group participated in the Jump Rope for Heart fund-raising campaign, raised funds for the Alesia Albritton and Chuck Lewis Memorial Scholarships. It also sponsored the annual Spring Fling and donated money to the college greenhouse.

The Order of the Tower, a carefully selected group of twelve outstanding sophomores, serves the college and helps to promote a better relationship between the students and faculty.

The club began its year in May of 1982 when members served as graduation marshals. In July members served as hosts for Parent/Freshman Orientation, acting as guides and answering questions concerning the college. The Tower assisted the Administration in hosting the Board of Trustees and Board of Advisors at their joint meeting in the fall. The group joined others in the Walk-a-Thon to raise money for the Alesia Albritton Scholarship Fund, hosted an alumni reception at Homecoming, assisted the Bloodmobile when it was on campus in the fall and again in the spring. The club sponsors the annual Halloween Carnival and the Christmas Party for children of the faculty and staff of the college. The year culminates with the Tower sponsoring and organizing the annual Honors & Awards Night.

SULLIVANIANS

The Sullivanians, a women's leadership organization organized in 1934 and named for a benefactor of the college (Mary Mildred Sullivan), has as its main purpose the development of character, leadership and personality. This is achieved through fellowship and service to others, as the Sullivanian motto will attest: "A clear eye, a ready hand, and a pure heart."

The year began with the annual Freshman Tea. The group sold mums for Homecoming, participated in the Halloween Carnival, sponsored a craft and bake sale, collected for Easter Seals, helped with refreshments for the Christmas Dance, sold hats at basketball games, and sponsored a "Fifties" Dance in the spring. The club helped raise money for the Alesia Albritton Scholarship by taking part in the Walk-a-Thon; it also held a "Mr. Turkey" day with the money raised going to a needy family at Thanksgiving. Several luncheons were held and the end of the year saw the Sullivanians give an annual scholarship to a rising sophomore at the Honors & Awards program.

BOBCATS END SEASON ON LOSING NOTE IN FERRUM'S COME-FROM-BEHIND WIN, 24-17, BUT POST GOOD SEASON WITH 6-3-1-MARK

Alas! Alack! Things looked good for Lees-McRae. The 15th nationally ranked Bobcats were entertaining ninth nationally ranked Ferrum to decide the host for the Eastern Bowl, and the Bobcats took a 17-10 lead going into the third period, as John Fields and Craig Doctor got Lees-McRae touchdowns. In between, Doug Illing kicked a 28-yard field goal, and all three scores were set up by interceptions by a stingy Bobcat defense. The Bobcats drove inside the Ferrum ten, with five minutes to go in the final quarter, but a Ferrum interception at the goal line was returned 61 yards to end the Bobcat threat. The Bobcats had a 17-3 cushion, but Ferrum scored on a 45-yard touchdown pass in the final play of the first half to cut the Bobcats' lead to 17-10, then the Panthers got even on an 85-yard TD pass in the third period to knot the score. A Ferrum 48-yard pass to the Lees-McRae three-yard line set up the final touchdown and winning score to give the edge to the Panthers, 24-17.

David Riddleberger ran for 121 yards and one touchdown as Lees-McRae pinned a 42-21 defeat on the Virginia Tech Jayvees. Virginia Tech took a 13-7 first quarter lead but Lees-McRae proceeded to reel off five straight touchdowns as the Bobcats went 6-2-1 and climbed into the 15th ranking nationally, setting the stage for the Ferrum contest.

The Bobcats opened their 1982 season with a disappointing loss to Fort Bragg, 20-17. The Bobcats bounced back in the second game, defeating Montgomery 14-0, as Tony Campagna found Scott Pearson for a TD toss and Campagna scored on a three-yard run. Defensive standouts in the shut-out were Steve Hensley, Chuck Okey, Donnie Davis, Tony Sweeney, Ed Varnes, Ed Carter, John Turley, and Mike Shawver.

Doug Illing booted two field goals and defensive safety Ed Varnes returned a 69-yard punt while Tony Campagna hit Pearson on a 32-yard pass play and Craig Doctor scored from 31-yards out to lead Lees-McRae past the ASU Jayvees, 25-13.

Craig Doctor scored two TDs, Tony Campagna crossed the goal line and Illing booted a 40-yard field goal to lead Lees-McRae in a 24-14 victory over Coastal Conference foe Potomac State. Defensively Turley, Okey, Carter, Davis, McClary, Maxwell, McGraw, Varnes, Hensley, Williams and Shawver were outstanding.

Westchester Community College started the game like a house afire, marching 84 yards in 12 plays until the drive was halted on the 12-yard line by John Turley who intercepted a Viking aerial and returned it three yards to the 15. Then Coach Campbell followed "Doctor's orders" and turned a vicious blocking front line loose and unleashed freshman back Craig Doctor who scored four TDs and rushed for 129 yards in leading the Bobcats over Westchester, 45-6.

Hudson Valley surprised the Lees-McRae College Bobcats by playing the conference leader to a stalemate at Troy, New York, 14-14. The blemish dampened the Bobcats' hopes of a first place, giving them a 3-0-1 conference record, 4-1-1 overall. Craig Doctor scored one touchdown on a 97-yard run and Tony Campagna provided the tying touchdown on a nine-yard dash.

After the Hudson Valley game the injury riddled Bobcats had to hang on for a 7-6 win in a hard-fought battle over the Western Carolina junior varsity. Lees-McRae stopped a last gasp two-point conversion attempt by Western as the Catamounts scored with just five seconds left in the game and went for the two-point play on a running attempt which was stopped short of the goal line as time ran out.

Chowan held Lees-McRae scoreless for three quarters and went on to defeat the Bobcats in an important Coastal Conference clash, 27-7. The Bobcats lost three fumbles in their own territory and dropped to 5-2-1 on the season, 3-1-1 in the conference. L-M then hosted VPI Jayvees to improve their record to 6-2-1 before meeting Ferrum in the finale of the season.

VOLLEYBALL

In the third year of volleyball as an organized sport the Lady Bobcats posted a 3-27 record. Against favored Spartanburg Methodist in the region tournament Lees-McRae fell 15-2 and 15-9 in the best two out of three after winning the first game 15-11. They lost the Ferrum 14-16, won the second game 15-10, but lost the third 12-15. Always a threat and highly competitive in each match, the Lady Bobcats lost 13 of the 27 by going three games with their opponents.

Action was fast and furious in Williams Gym as Phyllis Kahan, Anne Avery, Allyson Siegel, Jan Brewer, and Marsha House demonstrate.

Hard ski practices begin in the early fall as Danny Church and Jane Lillard (above) can attest. The skiers start strenuous workouts to prepare for the ski season in January and February. Below, leading skier Church before an injury forced him from his leading position in the SCSA.

SKIING

The Lees-McRae men and women skiers finished below Appalachian State University in both divisions, as the men were edged 390 points to 340 points by the App Skiers, and the women's division saw ASU lead 280 points to 260 points for the Lady Bobcat skiers. It was a good finish for both teams and Lees-McRae placed Jane Lillard and Kitty Baucom on the All-Region team and Steve Lincks was the selection for the men's All-Region team.

INTRAMURALS

Intramurals are an integral part of the Lees-McRae students' life. Soccer launched the intramural program in the fall with Avery Dorm taking first place with an undefeated season of 5-0, followed by Cannon with a 3-2 record and Baldwin with a 2-3. The "Leftovers" lived up to their name posting an 0-5 record. In the fall tennis tournament Mike Bazemore took the championship defeating Larry Welsh. Welsh teamed with faculty member David Yount to win the doubles championship over Eddie Smith and David Travis. (Sorry these groups were not available for pictures.) Intramural volleyball and basketball dominated the use of the gym facilities during the winter months as a hectic schedule produced competition and excitement for all.

BASKETBALL

Lees-McRae ran into arch-rival Anderson College in the first round of the Region X, NJCAA Tournament in Spartanburg, and the ill-fated Bobcats came out on the short end of a 67-58 score.

The Bobcats, who seemed to have left their stamina and effort on Williams Gymnasium floor following their opening round loss to Spartanburg Methodist in the WCJCC Tournament, 70-65, were never in contention in the second half, after leading 32-28 in the first half. Lees-McRae, leading by as many as nine points in the first half, saw the Trojans cut the score to a four-point margin at halftime.

The record-setting 1982-83 Lees-McRae basketball season is now history. The Bobcats finished 22-8 and for the third time in the past four years they hit the magic 20-win circle.

Carlisle Hostetter, head mentor of the Bobcats, has now completed his eighth season and his teams have won 147 games during that span which is an average of better than 18 wins per year. His 1979-80 team set a school record for the best winning percentage in the school's history with a 20-8 record, and then the 1981-82 team topped that with a 20-6 record. Records are made to be broken and this year's team did just that by compiling a 22-6 regular season mark.

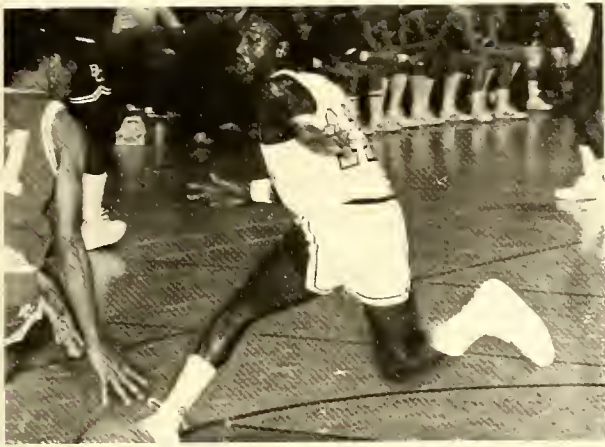

"We have been fortunate in having some outstanding players over the years but the real key to our success is that we have had outstanding young men that have been equally successful in all areas of campus life. We lose eight sophomores off this squad and they have been involved in 43 wins over this two-year period. This group of sophomores has added to the great Lees-McRae tradition and we will surely miss them next year," Hostetter stated.

"I am not at all surprised at the accomplishments set by this year's team. I knew this would be a truly outstanding group. They say records are made to be broken, so why not think about winning 23 in 1983-84?" Hostetter concluded.

NINTH NATIONALLY . . .

The Bobcats finished in ninth place in the NJCAA National Tennis Tournament held in Ocala, Florida. Defending champion Seminole (Fla.) Community College repeated as national champion, followed by Tyler Junior College of Texas; host Central Florida was in third place.

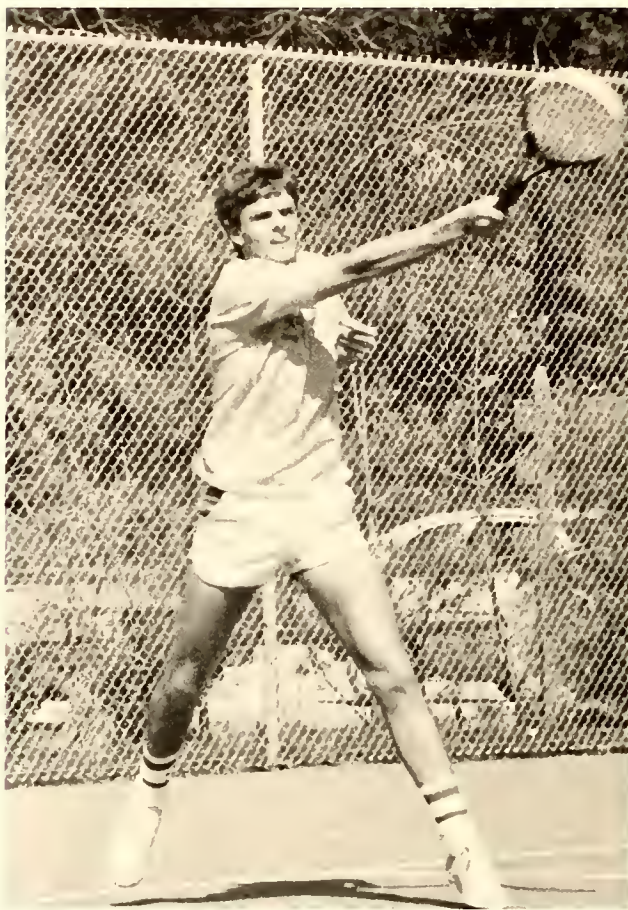

The Bobcat netters were in some talented company as they finished behind three Texas schools, two Florida schools, and were edged by Mesa, Arizona by one point for eighth place. Anderson (S.C.) College, who upset the Bobcats at the Region X Tournament, finished tenth, behind Lees-McRae.

Hurry up and wait seems to be the theme of the national tournament as Siddons and Adams await doubles play in the shade at the Central Florida courts, while Kim Tyler, Rodney Bowlin and Darryl Cummings await play in singles action. Above, Cummings and Tyler in doubles play against number two seeded Central Florida. Below, after the tournament the Bobcats became tourists, as they toured Castilla de San Marcos in St. Augustine.

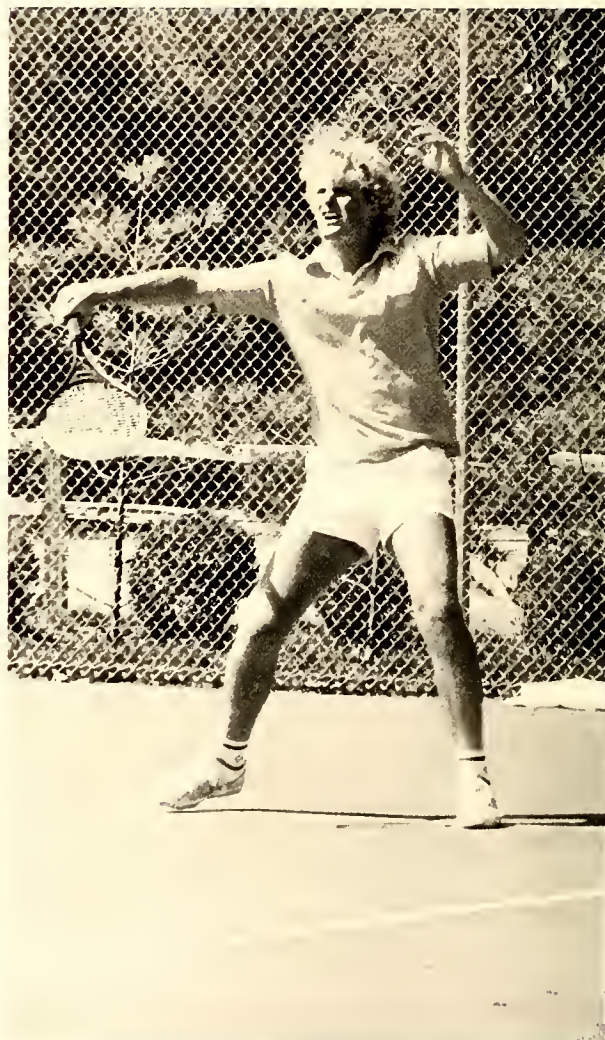

LEES-McRAE TENNIS TEAM POSTS 27-5 RECORD . . .

The Bobcats posted an 18-3 spring record and were edged for the region championship by Anderson College by two points. The Bobcats, posting a 9-2 fall season for a 27-5 overall record, set a new school record in shut-outs as they won 20 9-0 matches during the season. A record of 16 whitewashes by the 1977 champion Bobcats was handed out to their opponents on their way to the national tournament where they finished eighth that year. It was the fourth appearance by the Bobcats in the national tournament in the last six years. In Arizona, the 1977 Bobcats finished eighth; in 1981 Lees-McRae finished 23rd, and in 1982 they finished 19th.

Jeff Adams, who won the regional championship in straight sets, defeating Alan Merck of Catawba Valley and Raj Maharaj of North Greenville in the finals, was seeded eighth nationally. Kim Tyler won the fifth singles flight and teamed with his doubles partner Darryl Cummings for a seed in the number two doubles. David Siddons was seeded ninth in the number two singles flight in the national tournament and reached the quarters, falling to Winston Strozier of Anderson in a hard-fought 7-6 tiebreaker in the third. Siddons had upset the number seven seed earlier, Joe Fishbach of Nassau Community College, to gain the quarter finals.

The Bobcats' number one singles player Jeff Adams, MVP of the Region, and singles champion, reached the NJCAA quarter finals, as did David Siddons who reached the quarter finals in the number two singles flight. Adams and Siddons combined to reach the quarters in the number one doubles. Siddons, above, and Adams at right, were the mainstays in the Bobcat attack all season.

1983 ONTAROGA DEDICATION

Elton Caviness came to Lees-McRae as a chemistry teacher in 1977 and became actively involved with students and formed a bluegrass band to accompany the Performing Arts Department programs on campus. A graduate of Campbell College, with a master's degree from N.C. State University, Mr. Caviness spends long hours in class and labs with students and is always available for additional study. His bluegrass band won honors at the state competition at the 48th annual Highfalls Fiddler's Convention held at North Moore High School in Robbins. He was singled out for his expertise on the banjo. Married to the former Susan Covington, Mrs. Caviness directs the LMC Cloggers, which won the Old North State Clogging competition. Caviness was president of the Campbell College Honor Society and was named to Who's Who In American Colleges and Universities. Now he has been awarded the distinction of the highest honor given by the student body and yearbook staff at Lees-McRae College, the dedication of the 1983 Ontaroga.

Mr. and Mrs. Caviness and daughter Trish.

ON TO ELTON CAVINESS...

53rd GRADUATION-COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES . . .

"Slew Doo": "Nothin' to it!"

Lees-McRae College President H. C. Evans, Jr. and Vice President for Academic Affairs James A. Stonesifer conferred one hundred twenty-three degrees upon the 1983 Graduating Class. The Reverend Richard G. McGarry, Pastor, Banner Elk Presbyterian Churches, delivered the morning address at the 11:00 a.m. service. Dr. John T. Henley, President, North Carolina Association of Independent Colleges and Universities, addressed the graduates at the 2:00 p.m. ceremony.

McGarry mused, "I must admit to you, at this point, though extremely honored to be chosen to speak to you whom I consider very dear, the task of preaching the Baccalaureate sermon is both challenging and somewhat overwhelming. But our lives are difficult enough, aren't they, in the complex world of psychobabble and double-speak, 'Domo more gotto Mr. Robotto,' to fill important time with cute cliches. So we will dispense with the fanciful sloganeering these few moments and reflect upon what is most basic to you, to me, and to everyone else in this building today. Do the ethics of the age of Daniel Boone, or the great war, or the good 'ole days, really seem sufficient for the age of the space shuttle, the threatened decade of nuclear proliferation and cold war, or is the world crying out for a change? And our religion, is it in the process of becoming, or changing to adapt to God's spirit as it reshapes the waters of a chaotic world, as it makes 'all things new,' or is it simply a device for maintaining the status quo? Do we have all the wisdom we need to deal with what is new?"

" 'Get wisdom and insight!' writes the sage in Proverbs, 'Get wise!' Back when I was younger, living in Florida, when the state inspection first came out, on the back of the sticker there was a curloous little phrase, 'Drive safely, the life you save may be your own.' I suppose this is the common association of wisdom, intellect, common sense, homely little utterances like 'Charity begins at home.' 'Business is Business,' 'God helps those who help themselves.' But the writer of Proverbs means something far different when he utters, 'Get wisdom!' Wisdom is that process of becoming. It is, through wisdom, the first bond of all creation, the governing priority of all human conduct, that allows us to change and adapt to that which is being made new, namely ourselves."

" 'The life you save may be your own.' God's wisdom says, 'the life you save is the life you'll lose.' The life you clutch, hoard, guard, play safe with is in the end worth little to anybody, including yourself, and only the life given away for love's sake is a life worth living. Go and serve your neighbor; go and make healthy communities in God's name, communities where people are allowed and encouraged to grow to their potential, where people become the agents of transformation for one another. You want wisdom? Then go and heal sick people, go and feed hungry people, go and free the imprisoned, go and clothe the naked, go and be such an advocate for peace that even the roughest nations will lay down their guns and darts, their arsenals of missiles. Go and do these things and you will have wisdom enough to deal with what is new."

McGarry continued, "To drive home that point clearly, God showed us one who dared to love the wisdom of God and He tells us to imitate this one. This one gave his life away to the extent of dying a national disgrace without a penny in the bank or a friend to his name. In terms of human wisdom, he was a perfect fool, and anyone who thinks they can follow him without making something like the same kind of fool of themselves is laboring not under a cross but a delusion. Get wise! But beware, God's wisdom is a risky business, so risky that if your game happens to be status achievement, if you yearn to be popular and well liked, then I'd think twice.

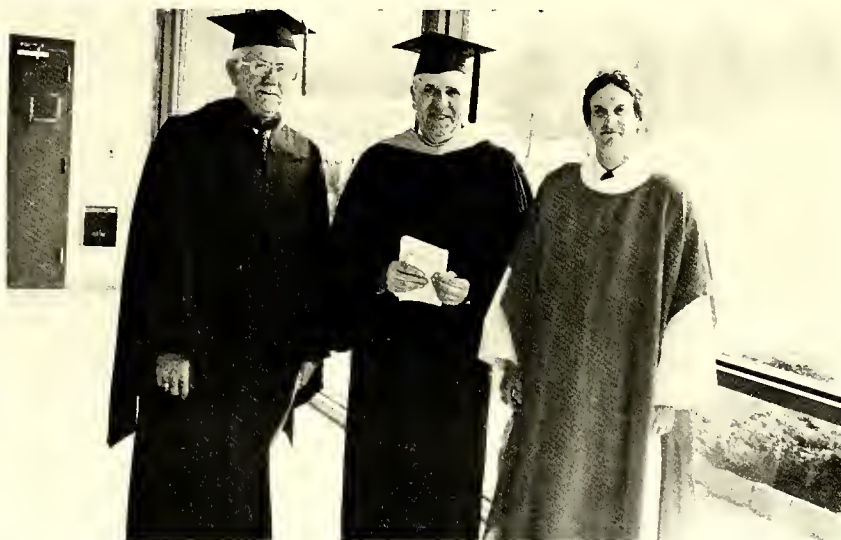

"My friends, God entrusts his world to his fools. So if I were to present a challenge to you, the graduates, it would be 'Be Foolish!' and take your foolishness from Lees-McRae into the various places you go, so that by your life, mirrored in the image of Christ, you can be open to receiving God's blessing, open to living God's new thing. Help to make the communities in which you live healthy and blessed. This is not a message simply for graduates who will leave and go elsewhere, it's a challenge for the whole Lees-McRae community, administrators, teachers, staff people, returning students, new students, 'Be Foolish!' Take this foolishness and practice it here. Seek to recreate Lees-McRae into a community based on trust, where everyone can grow and enjoy the fruit of mutual care. It can be done by us here!

McGarry concluded. "Do you have all the wisdom you need? I can't say much about your futures nor your ability to lead an entire nation. I won't say anything about beginnings and endings. They all seem rather redundant when brought face to face with the challenge to 'Get wisdom.' I can't say much except, for in the words of one writer, 'you were led here, step by step, you were prompted for a reason, chosen to keep the small flame of love alight, to nurture the seeds of goodness in this small place, until the day when the sprout sends you out to light other candles in a dark land and plant new seeds on a dry blackened earth.' "

Dr. Evans flanked by graduation speakers John Henley and Banner Elk Presbyterian minister Rick McGarry.

Dr. Henley, as President of the North Carolina Association of Independent Colleges and Universities, stressed the importance of a liberal arts education.

"A liberal arts education deals in change, teaching and learning, how to cause it and how to accommodate it. A great Greek philosopher pointed out a few thousand years ago that things are always changing while always staying the same. Like the flames of a fire or the flow of a river, change is constantly taking place in the ebb and flow of life. But the purpose of education should always stay the same.

"People today seem surprised to learn that goals other than education are not the automatic rewards of a college degree. Jobs are in short supply everywhere, and the critics of education are pointing out, almost gleefully, that a college education alone is not capable of doing what it once did, in terms of careers and income. It does not automatically bring a high-paying job. In the wake of such criticism some colleges and universities are frantically trimming their sails, measuring their every effort by whether it helps in getting a job and earning money.

"But the liberal arts colleges such as Lees-McRae have a higher purpose that just getting you a job and a dollar return on your investment. In these times of doubt and national reassessment of higher education, we have the opportunity to reassert our faith that through the development of intellectual capabilities the liberal arts offer a fuller, more satisfying, more useful life, not just a better way to earn a living. Through opening the minds of students to new ideas, new possibilities, through teaching them to question, to analyze, to be receptive to the full range of the possibilities of life, the liberal arts provide a richness and quality of living not tied to the ups and downs of circumstance or the economy. I have no doubts that Lees-McRae graduates will do as well as anyone, and better than most, in competing for jobs, whether it be now or after further education. This is not, however, the guiding star of the liberal arts.

"At its very best, your education has provided each of you graduates not only the tools for success but also the wisdom and judgment to understand what success should mean in terms of the individual and society. A liberal arts education is not a treasure to be hoarded by the individual, rather it places a broad and awesome responsibility upon its graduates."

AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN JUNIOR COLLEGES

This year Lees-McRae had thirteen sophomores selected for inclusion in the national publication, WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN JUNIOR COLLEGES. The publication recognizes students for their outstanding contribution to their campus, the student's scholarship, leadership, and participation in education and extracurricular activities, general citizenship, and promise of future usefulness. It is a means of compensation for outstanding efforts and achievement: a standard of management for students comparable to other recognized scholastic and service organizations.
